October 21 — Disability Mentoring Day — Steve Martinez — Dillon's Store Manager

Steve Martinez considers himself one of the luckiest men on earth. Three years ago he suffered from an e coli infection which caused all his vital organs to shut down. His body temperature soared to 107 degrees and stayed there. As he lay in a coma, doctors told his wife, Linda, to expect the worse.

When Steve eventually woke up, he found himself facing a new reality. The effects of the infection cost him both his legs, a thumb and three fingers. He worked with a physical therapist to learn to deal with his disabilities. Steve is currently employed by Dillon's as a store manager in Wichita at the 37th St. and Woodlawn location.

Throughout the experience, Steve never considered depression or self pity an option, rather feeling a profound sense of gratitude for his survival. He frequently speaks to cancer survivors and other groups of people suffering from illness or disabilities. He has made many inspirational presentations for organizations including Goodwill Industries, New York Life, the Kroger Co. and McConnell Air Force Base.

Steve lives in Harper, Kansas, with his wife and 26 horses. He attended the Pasadena City College in California and graduated from Cal State with a degree in business.

Don't miss his amazing story!

October 28 — Maura McEnaney — Author of Willard Garvey Biography

Maura McEnaney has more than 30 years of experience as an award-winning business writer and editor. She is a former journalist at Bloomberg News, the Akron Beacon Journal and other regional daily and weekly newspapers and trade publications. Her work has appeared in the Washington Post, Denver Post, Boston Globe, New York Daily News and BusinessWeek online.

McEnaney was a staff writer on the Akron Beacon Journal's "A Question of Color," a year-long project examining race relations in Akron, which won the Pulitzer Prize Gold Medal for Meritorious Public Service in 1994.

Several months after graduating from Syracuse University in 1979, McEnaney was a young journalist working in Nevada, when she first encountered Wichita's Garvey family, including the late patriarch Willard Garvey. She has been a close friend of his family for more than three decades.

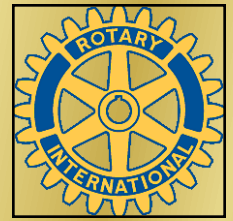

The Garvey family commissioned McEnaney to write a biography of Willard Garvey and she spent five years researching his life. During the course of her research, she interviewed multiple Wichita residents who knew, and worked closely with, Garvey during his storied business career. The book entitled Willard Garvey: An Epic Life was published this year by LibertyTree Press.
