Topic: Combating Human Trafficking:
Because Even One Abused and Exploited is One Too Many

While human trafficking is often publicized as modern-day slavery, the fact is that this form of abuse and exploitation is not modern at all. Rather, throughout history, both labor and sex trafficking have been noted as the mostly widely accepted and covert forms of violence perpetrated against vulnerable and marginalized populations. With this in mind, Dr. Countryman-Roswurm's presentation will assist Rotarian members to develop an increased understanding of the definition, scope, and extent of human trafficking. Rotarians will learn about cases of human trafficking in Kansas and will receive information on what is being done — technically and adaptively — to address this form of maltreatment. Lastly, Rotarians will gain ideas on how they too might intentionally and effectively join the anti-trafficking movement.

Karen Countryman-Roswurm, LMSW, PhD, has more than two decades of personal, professional practice, and community-based research expertise in the Anti-Trafficking Movement. With various first-hand vantage points, and operating from a strengths-based social justice perspective, she has served locally, regionally, nationally, and internationally as a street outreach worker, project coordinator for gender-specific programming, therapist, community response organizer, human rights advocate, and public policy developer. Specifically, she has acted as a forerunner in advancing broad-based community awareness, human trafficking prevention programming through use with her Lotus Prevention for Prosperity™ Curriculum, effective identification and intervention strategies through use of her Domestic Minor Sex Trafficking - Risk and Resilience Assessment™ (DMST-RRA), and methods of trauma-informed direct-practices for multidisciplinary professionals who serve young people who are subjugated to, and/or who have survived, sex trafficking through use of her Lotus Victim to Vitality™ Program Model. Dr. Countryman-Roswurm serves as the Founder and Executive Director of the Center for Combating Human Trafficking and is an Assistant Professor in the School of Social Work at Wichita State University.
