The Four-Way Test

Is it the TRUTH?	Is it FAIR to all concerned?
Will it build GOODWILL & BETTER FRIENDSHIPS?	Will it be BENEFICIAL to all concerned?

October 26 — Sedgwick County Sheriff Jeff Easter Topic: Issues Facing Law Enforcement in Sedgwick County

On October 26, Sheriff Jeff Easter will address some timely but controversial topics such as protocol for officer-related shootings, violent crime among races and violence against law enforcement.

Sheriff Jeff Easter is a native of Kansas and received his bachelor's degree in management from Friends University. In 2012, Easter was elected sheriff of Sedgwick County and he took office on December 17, 2012. In his position, he supervises more than 500 employees in operations, investigations, court services, and detention.

Easter has received training on street gangs throughout the United States and he currently teaches on the subject at various sites. He began his law enforcement career with the Wichita Police Department (WPD) in 1989. During his tenure with the WPD, he worked in a variety of capacities, which prepared him for the role of county sheriff. He retired from the WPD in 2012.

Jeff is married to Kimberlee and they have three daughters and a son.

November 2 — Juan Johnson President of Diversity Leadership in Action Topic: Leveraging Diversity to Create Better Communities

Juan Johnson is president of Diversity Leadership in Action, formerly Juan Johnson Consulting and Facilitation, LLC. Juan has been in this role since July 2006, after concluding a 21-year career with the Coca-Cola Company. Juan's original background is accounting and finance. He achieved certifications as both a CPA and CMA and worked for Arthur Andersen & Company before joining Coca-Cola in 1984.

In 1993, at 35 years of age, Juan was elected a full corporate vice president by Coca-Cola's board of directors, making him one of the youngest board-elected vice presidents in the company's history. At the time, Juan was responsible for the company's investor relations function, representing Coca-Cola before the professional investment community on Wall Street. During his tenure, Institutional Investor magazine named Coca-Cola the most improved investor relations function and noted the company for having among the best annual investor meetings. After working extensively in highly visible areas at Coca-Cola, Juan was tapped to become the company's first vice president for diversity strategy, reporting directly to the CEO.

In 2001, Juan partnered with the late Dr. R. Roosevelt Thomas, a pioneer in diversity consulting, to create the Diversity Leadership Academy, a leadership development program for executive level business and community leaders. After a successful launch in Atlanta, the program expanded under Juan's leadership to numerous other markets around the country. In South Carolina, Juan serves as a Senior Distinguished Fellow with the Richard W. Riley Institute at Furman University and is the chief designer and facilitator of the Riley Institute's diversity leadership programs across the state. Juan is also the designer and facilitator of the Advance Kansas diversity leadership program at Butler Community College in Wichita, Kansas. These programs bring together leaders from various sectors of society to build diversity leadership skills, forge new and lasting relationships and launch important community building initiatives.

In addition to his accounting certifications, Juan holds an MBA from Atlanta University and a bachelor of science degree in accounting from Southern University in Baton Rouge, Louisiana. Juan also received an honorary doctor of humanities degree from Furman University in 2010.
